

Office food ordering trends 2022

In 2022, the world reopened and businesses saw their office populations rise once again. Group meetings, team socials and office lunches are in full swing, so we wanted to discover more about teams' ordering habits and trends now that we're back in the office.

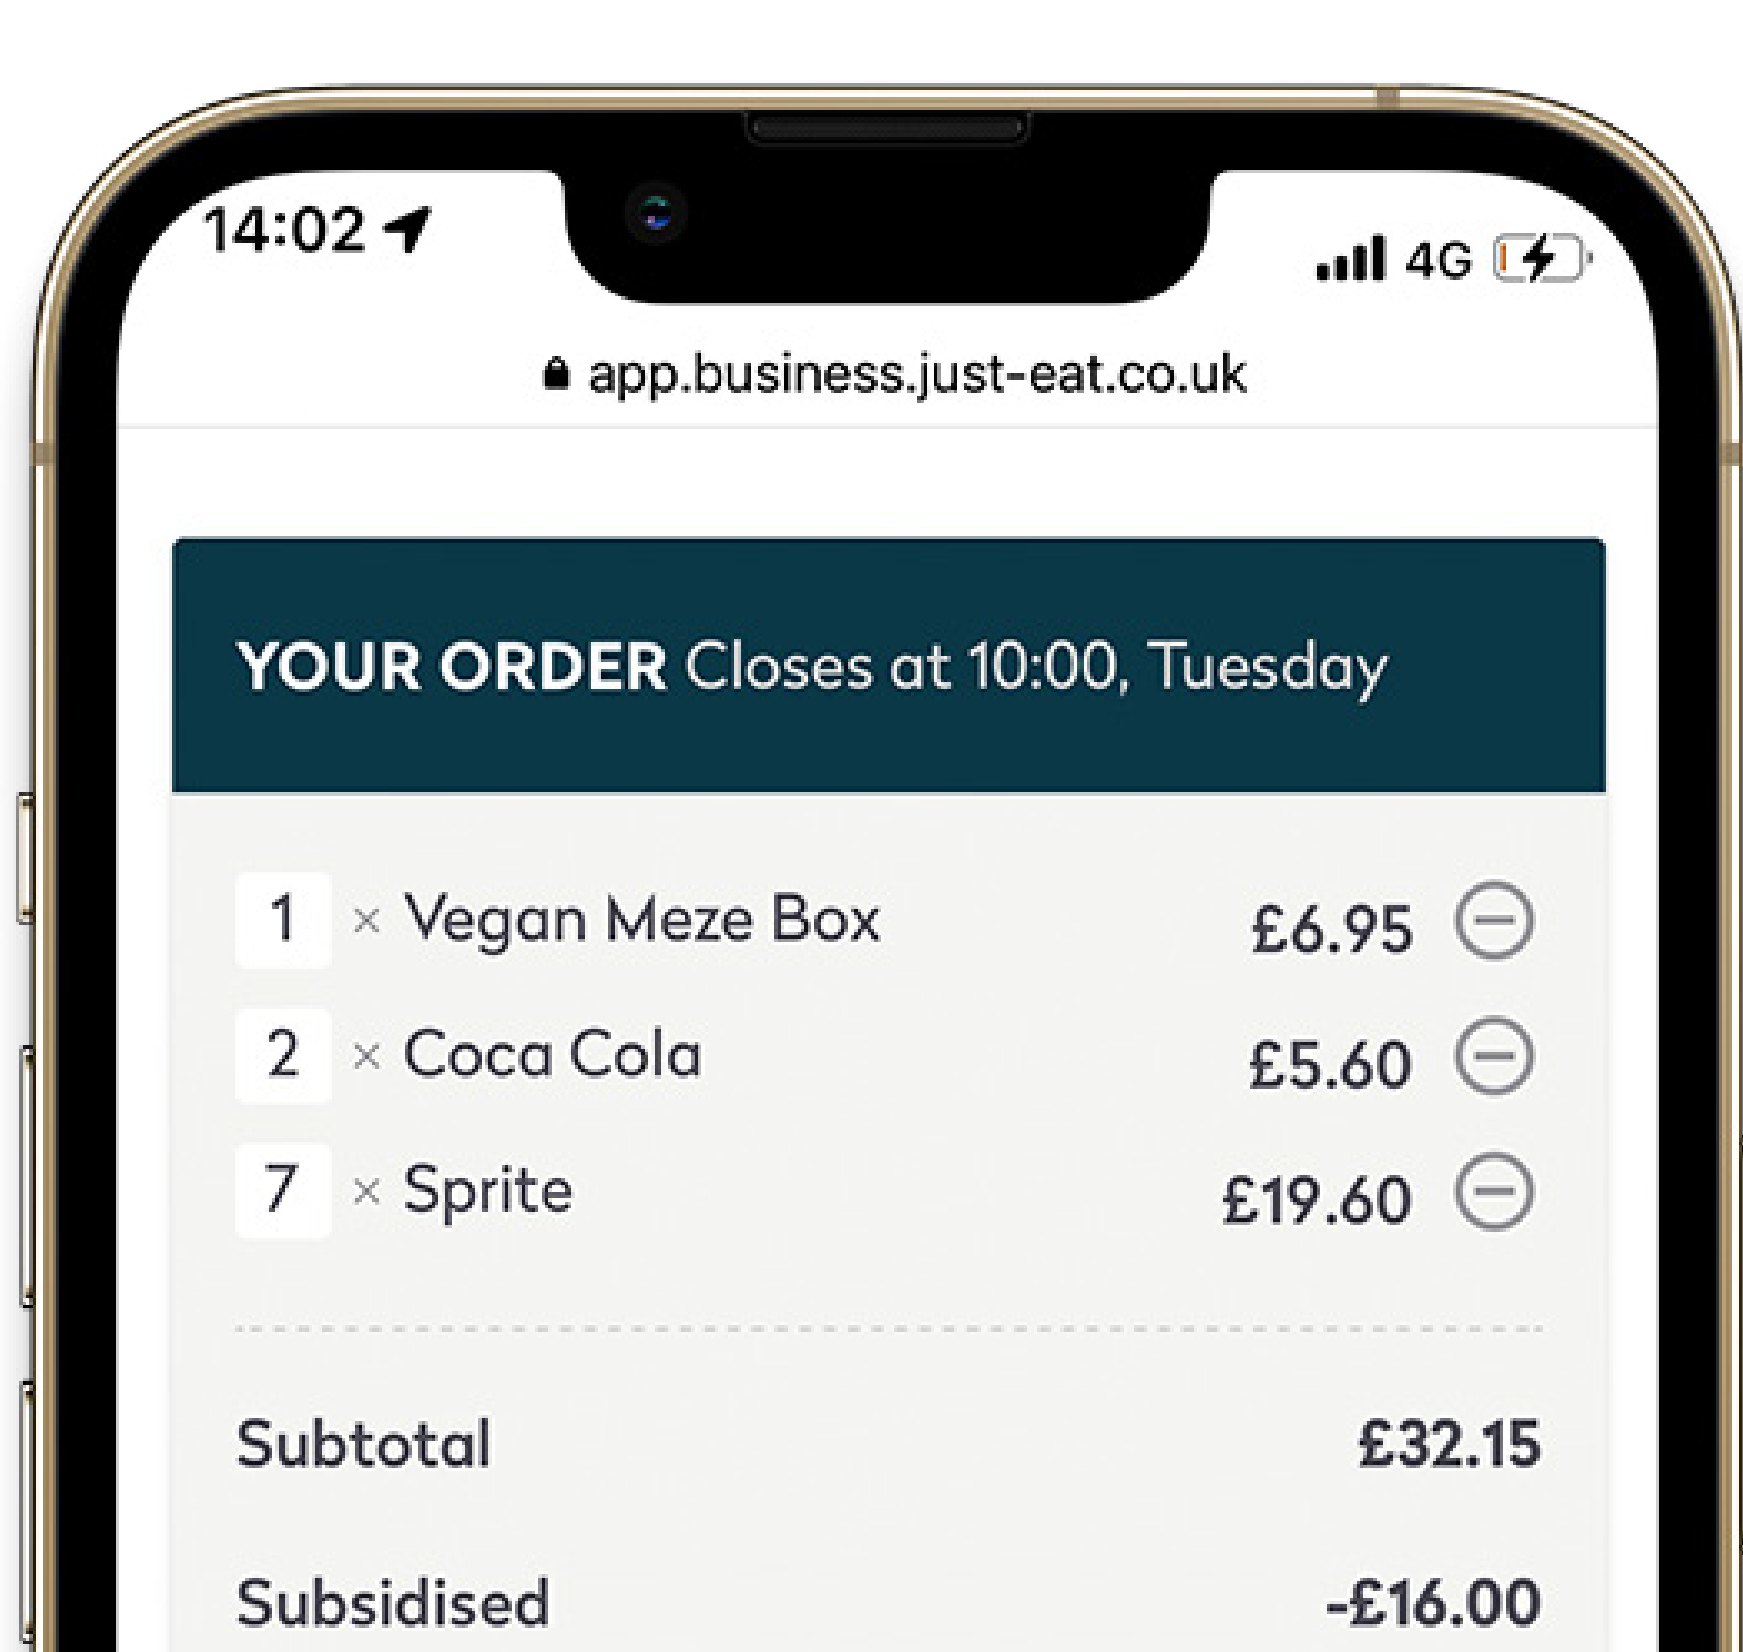

The City of London has the most adventurous eaters

they try more cuisines than any other offices in the capital.

The hungriest borough is Islington teams in this location have topped the list of orderers in 2022 so far!

Sharing food is officially back on the menu

buffet and platter orders have skyrocketed this year as employees crave that long-awaited feeling of community.

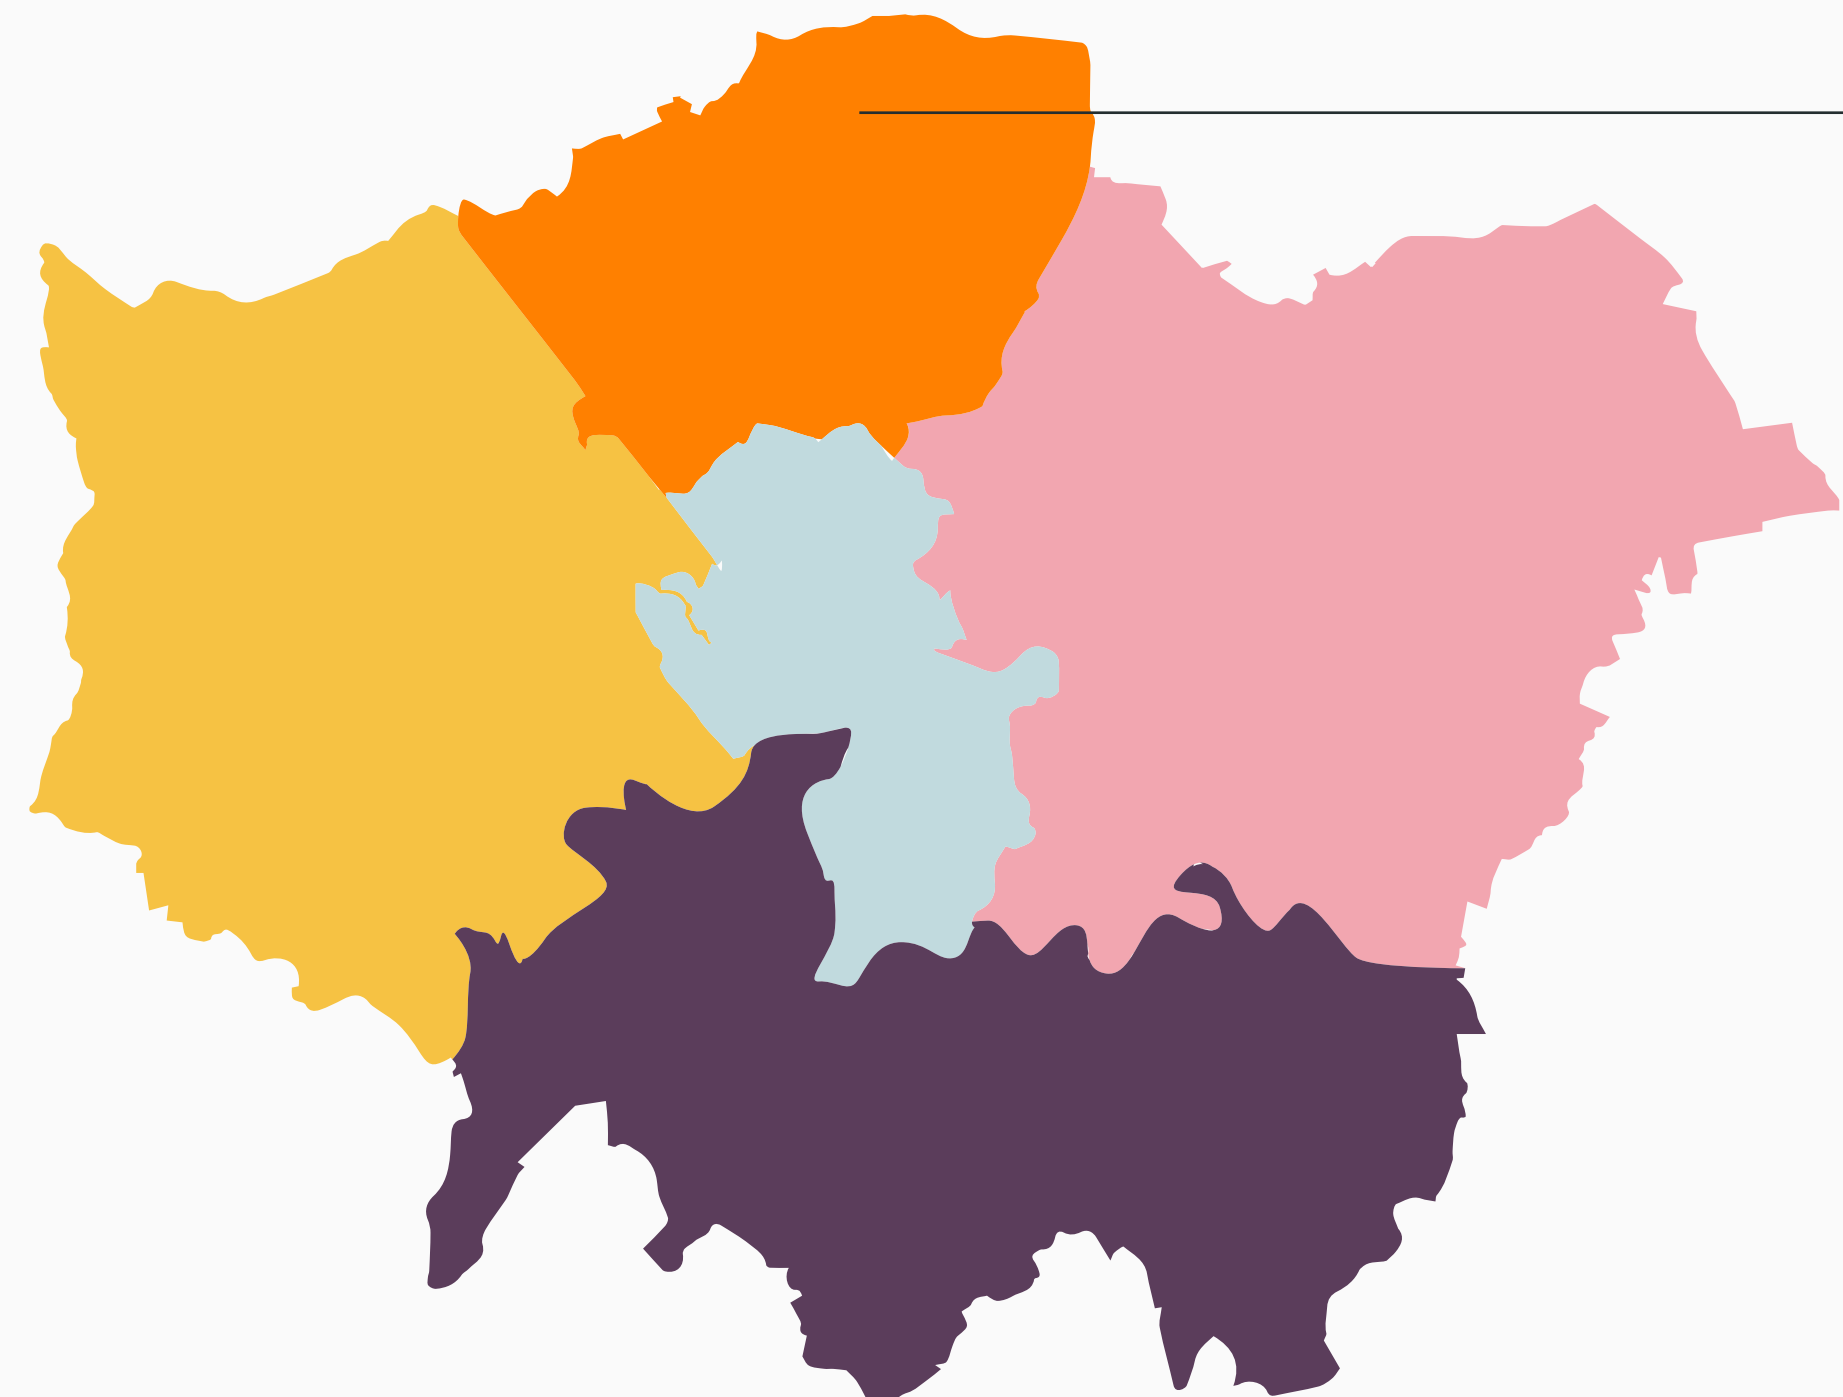

The most popular cuisine across London is Mediterranean.

Team socials are at an all-time high:

Pop-up orders have increased a whopping

243% since 2021!

North London leads the way in workplace ordering

Which London boroughs have offices ordering the most in the first half of 2022?

*Each icon represents 1000 orders

just-eat.co.uk/business | 020 3893 3500

